Call for Papers

Do you love literature, the arts, world languages, history, mathematics, philosophy, or science? (Or maybe you love them all!)

Summer Institute and Areté Institute Alumni, be the thinker that you want your students to be!

What interests you now in your own academic study?

Share your insights and passion with colleagues who love to learn.

Present a formal, academic lecture at the 2019 Cowan Center Conference™

January 25, 2019: 6-9PM • January 26, 2019: 9-4PM

Submit a précis to cmacmillan@dallasinstitute.org by Dec. 30, 2018. Final papers are due January 15, 2019.

5, double-spaced pages • 12-point Times New Roman font • 1” margins

A Special Cowan Center™ Feature:
Ground the essay with both a historical and a contemporary context. Equal time does not need to be given to both perspectives, but if the topic is from an ancient work, allude to one of its contemporary echoes.

And if the topic is a from a contemporary discovery or work, make an allusion to an earlier work or time that anticipates this “new” thing or idea.

Presenting a lecture annually at the Cowan Center Conference™ is required to maintain Cowan Center™ certifications.